Allconnect Named One of Atlanta's Fastest-Growing Private Companies

ATLANTA, April 5, 2010 – Allconnect has been named to the Atlanta Business Chronicle's Pacesetters list as one of the area's fastest-growing private companies. The final rankings will be announced on April 23, 2010.

To qualify for the Pacesetters list, a company must have experienced a two-year growth in sales of more than 50% and have 2009 revenues between $1 million and $300 million. The company must also be privately held, based in the 20-county metro Atlanta area and not a subsidiary of another company, and been in business since first quarter 2007.

"With hundreds of employees and millions of customers nationally, we're not a small company anymore. Being named to this list is the result of our dedication to the customer experience, as well as the investment we've made in technology and people over the past two years," said Allconnect CEO Mark Miller. "Our commitment to helping customers save time and money on home services is fueling our rapid growth, as people see how easy it is to compare prices and plans for their specific address.
